CFAN 3091V | Week 9 Literature Synthesis Review

Reviewer: _____ Writer: _____

Draft title or topic: _____

Bring a printed draft in 12-point Times New Roman, double spaced, with continuous line numbers. The line numbers matter because they let your comments stay attached to the same passage when the writer revises.

Reviewer Summary

Literature-based rationale, in your own words:

Review Tasks

1. One paragraph that truly synthesizes sources. Name the paragraph or line range, the sources in it, and the relationship it establishes.

2. One place that is still source-by-source summary. Name the paragraph or line range, then say what relationship among sources still needs to be made visible.

3. One consequential claim to test. Give the line number(s), state whether the wording stays within the evidence, and explain why.

4. One structural strength. Name a place where the draft makes the logic easier to follow: for example, a paragraph that states a cross-source pattern visibly, a sentence that turns a disagreement into a real niche, or a transition that links the literature to the writer's question.

5. One disagreement, limitation, or boundary. Identify one the draft handles well and one that still needs work.

6. Highest-priority revision. Give the line number(s), the revision you are recommending, and why it matters more than sentence-level editing.

Specific Line-Number Comments

Use this space for the comments you would actually write on the draft. Keep them tied to line numbers so the writer can find the exact passage again after revision.

Writer Response

After reading the review, respond to one consequential comment using one of these three moves:

1. Accept: We agree and made the following change.
2. Decline with reason: We disagree and the evidence or project logic says the following.
3. Need more information: We cannot resolve this yet and need the following evidence, decision, or advisor input.
